

Snit

Snit: Getting angry over a very small thing

Let me tell you a story about a BIG snit.
A fight.

There was a man who liked to sit inside and play scrabble with his wife.

This is his beautiful wife.
She had beautiful eyes.

One thing though.
She was always shaking her eyes.

And this annoyed her husband to death.
It always caused a big snit, a fight.

One day they were playing scrabble.
The man had some difficult letters.

And sure enough his wife got impatient and started shaking her eyes.

Of course, this got the man angry, very angry.
They had a snit.

The man decided to watch his favorite TV show.
It was called - "Sawing For Teens".

During the program, the man fell asleep.

The program was interrupted with an important message.

Nuclear war had started!
The world was going to end.

There was a loud noise.
The cat had bit the electrical cord,
stopping the electricity in the house.

The man woke up, he was still very angry!
He didn't see the important message on the TV.

The cat ran away and drank some water.

All of a sudden, the man felt bad. He made up with his wife and gave her a hug. He said, "Let's go outside for a walk".

The minute he touched the door knob
- they were sent to heaven.

And they lived happily ever after there.
Never having another snit again!
What's the moral of this story?
