

Discuss

- Do you like video games?
- Can you remember the first video game you played?
- Which video game are you best at?
- PlayStation, X-Box or Nintendo Wii – which is best and why?
- Are video games bad for your health?
- What will video games be like in the future?
- Do you think video games make people violent?
- Would you buy a friend a book or a video game as a birthday present?
- Does your personality change when you're gaming?
- Do you think gamers make too much money, just for playing games?

Discuss

- Which company makes the best video games?
- What words spring to mind when you hear the term 'video games'?
- Are video games good for relieving stress?
- Are video games good for hand-eye coordination?
- Would you like to be a game designer? What kinds of games would you design?
- Can you remember the first video game you played?
- How can you help someone who is addicted to video games?
- Is there a relationship between video games and mass shootings?
- Do you like it when Hollywood makes a movie based on a video game?
- Do you learn anything from playing video games?

Gun Control Quiz

1. When you buy a gun at a gun show, do you need to undergo a background check?

- a. Yes, always.
- b. Yes, in some states.
- c. No.

2. If someone buys a lot of ammunition over a short period of time, must the seller inform the government?

- a. No.
- b. If the ammunition is of certain types, yes.
- c. Yes, if the purchase exceeds 1,000 rounds.

3. True or false: The day with the most requests for background checks from the FBI — indicating the most firearm sales — was September 12, 2001.

- a. True.
- b. False.

4. How many people on the terrorist watch list have actually sought and received permits to buy weapons?

- a. Zero.
- b. Fewer than 100.
- c. More than 1,000.

5. What percentage of FBI permit-seekers had applications rejected because of domestic violence-related convictions or restraining orders?

- a. About 15 percent.
- b. Under five percent.
- c. None; that's not a reason for the FBI to reject an application.

7. What's the second-least common reason for a firearm permit application to be denied?

- a. The applicant was an unlawful immigrant.
- b. The applicant had mental health problems.
- c. The applicant was dishonorably discharged from the military.

8. How many people failed FBI background checks between 1998 and 2013 because they were fugitives from justice?

- a. Zero.
- b. About 1,000.
- c. About 100,000.

Answers

1. When you buy a gun at a gun show, do you need to undergo a background check?

- a. Yes, always.
- b. Yes, in some states.
- c. No.

2. If someone buys a lot of ammunition over a short period of time, must the seller inform the government?

- a. No.
- b. If the ammunition is of certain types, yes.
- c. Yes, if the purchase exceeds 1,000 rounds.

3. True or false: The day with the most requests for background checks from the FBI — indicating the most firearm sales — was September 12, 2001.

- a. True.
- b. False.

4. How many people on the terrorist watch list have actually sought and received permits to buy weapons?

- a. Zero.
- b. Fewer than 100.
- c. More than 1,000.

5. What percentage of FBI permit-seekers had applications rejected because of domestic violence-related convictions or restraining orders?

- a. About 15 percent.
- b. Under five percent.
- c. None; that's not a reason for the FBI to reject an application.

7. What's the second-least common reason for a firearm permit application to be denied?

- a. The applicant was an unlawful immigrant.
- b. The applicant had mental health problems.
- c. The applicant was dishonorably discharged from the military.

8. How many people failed FBI background checks between 1998 and 2013 because they were fugitives from justice?

- a. Zero.
- b. About 1,000.
- c. About 100,000.