

THE POLITE ROBBER

Robber: If you could do me a favor?

Shopkeeper: Yes.

Robber: Do empty that till for me, please. Put it right here.

Shopkeeper: What's your name?

Robber: Empty your till. Put your bills, right here. I'm robbing you.

Shopkeeper: You sure?

Robber: Yes, I'm sure.

Shopkeeper: Why do you want me to do that?

Robber: Because I need the money. I've got kids that need to be fed tonight.

Shopkeeper: That's dumb.

Robber: I know I am sir. I, I realize that and I'm really, I really am sorry to have to do this but I've got kids.

Shopkeeper: How about I give you $40 dollars and this is it.

Robber: Well, I can't do that sir. I've got rent to pay, I've got bills, the kids need to eat. ... Thank you very much. I really appreciate it. And I really am sorry. And if I ever get back on my feet again sir, I'll bring it back.

Shopkeeper: I'm sorry man. That be with you, man.

Robber: Thank you very much. And with you too.

Shopkeeper: Thank you.
