PIPER - THE STORY

Piper's mother wakes up with her chick one morning. Piper sees her mother fly to the shore to find food for her. When her mother tells her to come to the water to get food, Piper runs to her but her mother tells her to find her own food.

Suddenly, Piper is hit by a big wave as her mother returns back to the beach. Hungry, Piper returns back to the beach and hides behind a rock. She sees a wave coming again and she hides behind some dry seaweed. Piper notices some hermit crabs scurrying to the beach and they hide in their shells when the wave comes in.

Piper does what the hermit crabs do. When the wave comes in she hides in the sand just like the crabs. Underwater, the tiny hermit crab wakes up Piper and she finds several clams on the sand. Piper has finally overcome her fear of water and thanks the tiny hermit crab for helping her.

Piper goes back to her mother. She is now used to water like the other sandpipers. She finds a clam and eats it. She is happy and has no fear. Piper gives the other sandpipers some more clams for them to eat, making her mother very proud of her. Later that night, Piper and her mother sleep together and Piper feels satisfied with herself. She overcame her fear.
