

We ain't got no troubles. No reason to complain. 'Cuz here in Great old Britain, we just love it when it rains. Morning!

We're cozy here at home. Even though it's not our own. But wait a few more years and who can say?

Everything is just fine. Everything is grand. Your life can get no better when you're living by the letter in this pleasant land.

Everything is just fine. Everything is great. The streets can't get no cleaner. Or the rat meat any leaner. No life is just first rate.

Everything is just fine. These fish fingers are a steal. Prices up a smidge. Just a 100 quid a meal. Empty purse, but hey, could be worse. If there was nothing in the fridge!

Strategic realignment means I get to work for myself. Yay! Paying off my law degree with tips from each delivery. Excuse me, sir, I have your tandoori!

Everything is just fine. Everything is grand. Your life can get no better when you're living by the letter in this pleasant land.

Everything is just fine. Everything is great. We're soldiering on. We're doing our bit. We're off to Dubai. It's time to jump ship.

We're tightening our belts with a stiff upper lip 'cuz everything, everything, everything's just fine!
